OKANAGAN DIRECTOR RELEASES GROUND BREAKING FILM

During the Global Pandemic, Neill Blomkamp did what many other writer/director's only hoped to achieve; he shot an epic horror film. It was released in theatres and digitally on August 20th.

HOLLYWOOD IATSE VOTES TO STRIKE

While Canada watches closely, Hollywood IATSE Members voted overwhelmingly to strike. The International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE), which represents some 60,000 off-screen workers like camera operators, makeup artists, and production assistants, said that 90 per cent of its members cast ballots and more than 98 per cent of the votes returned were in favour of authorizing a strike.

HORRORFEST RETURNS AFTER A YEAR AWAY

After taking a year off due to covid-19, the Okanagan Society of Independent Filmmakers (OSIF) is bringing back HorrorFest! While it has traditionally been a live event, this year the Board is trying something new and holding an Online Event. The scary events are scheduled to begin October 25, 2021 and run through the Halloween weekend.
